DESCRIPTION:

What happens when disaster occurs in your community? Participants will gain insight from experts in the field as they discuss lesson's learned from actual events and response efforts. Presentations will provide firsthand information to first responders, support agencies, businesses and non-profits, community partners and elected officials who will be responding, managing and recovering from a large scale disaster.

OBJECTIVES:

By the end of the program, participants should be able to:

1. Build community partnerships to support health preparedness, and be integrated into the jurisdictions' all-hazards emergency plans;
2. Identify and engage community partners in response to foster public health, medical and mental/behavioral health, in a community before, during, and after an incident;
3. Identify and engage community partners in response to foster resource development in a community before, during, and after an incident;
4. Determine risks to the health of the jurisdiction by identifying potential hazards, vulnerabilities, and risks in the community infrastructure;
5. Increase their knowledge and ability to work collaboratively to prepare for, withstand, and recover from public health incidents;
6. Coordinate training or guidance to ensure community engagement in preparedness efforts;
7. Develop, coordinate and disseminate information, alerts, warnings and notifications specific to incident type;
8. Notify and assemble key public information personnel to provide information to the public during and after an incident;
9. Identify businesses and non-for profits who serve the community, including vulnerable populations, and work together to plan, respond, and recover from disasters.
